LOCAL & GENERAL NEWS.

THE Honolulu Rifles will have company drill this evening.THERE will be a battalion drill, at Palace Square, to-morrow evening.MR. Putnam, American Consul, and his daughter, Miss Eva, are expected here in January next.MR. J. J. Williams regrets that he did not take a greater number of photographs during the Jubilee, the demand being greater than the supply.JUDGE Widemann, accompanied by Mr. A. B. Sprague, Mr. C. W.
Smith, and Miss Widdich, left for a visit to Waianae, on the steamer Waimanalo, this morning.SOME special attraction has existed at the Chinese theatre this week. Unusual crowds of Chinamen have gathered there during the afternoons and evenings.MR. O. Duval advertises a complete description of his residence and lot on Lanialoa street and which he is about to vacate. He offers it for sale and volunteers further information by application on the premises.A FIFTY dollars reward for the recapture of Chun Hook is offered by the Deputy Marshal. The amount is ridiculously small. It ought to have been $500. The villain will probably be prepared for his captor, and he (Chun Hook) has sworn that he will never be re-taken alive!It was intended to hold a sale, next Saturday, of the goods remaining from the recent fair at St. Andrew's Priory. The intention has been changed, and the goods will be kept for another fair, which will probably be held about next midsummer.THERE will be a sociable in the Fort-Street Church vestry to-night, given by the Ladies Society. A literary and musical programme, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, will preface the social good-time, and will be followed with refreshments. A cordial invitation is extended.THE steamer Kilauea Hou has been detained for several days, receiving a new pump in place of her old, worn out one. She will sail tomorrow or next day, taking, besides a large quantity of general merchandise, a maceration mill for Halawa, and a smokestack and some machinery for Paauhau.THE little girls of the Punahou Preparatory School have been for some time past, busily engaged in making articles for sale, the proceeds to be expended in making a happy Christmas for the children at the Molokai leper settlement. Any other little girls wishing to join in the effort may send articles to No.
49, Beretania street, during the coming week.A MATCH game of billiards, between J. F. B. McCleery, and Lon.
Morris, will be played at the Hawaiian Hotel, to-morrow (Friday) and Monday evenings. The game will consist of 1,200 points, 8 inch ball, 600 points each evening, the winner receiving a purse of $500.
The play will begin at 8 o'clock.YESTERDAY, Major A. B. Hayley, accompanied by His Excellency Colonel Curtis P. Iaukea, drove down Fort street in a stylish English Dog-Cart. The horse was a high stepping chestnut and the harness dog mounted. It was almost a perfect turnout. It lacked the footman only, nevertheless it was universally admired and would not disgrace Rotten Row. "Jack" handles the ribbons in a thorough English style, and his manipulation of the whip is the acme of perfection. The Major, and the Colonel wore white hats, which become their handsome figures.Mr. William Williams, of Williamsville, has been christened the Honolulu Fog Horn.Mrs. E. Macfarlane is moving into the late Queen Emma's Waikiki residence.ESQUIRE Company No. 2 will meet at 7:30, this evening, at their regular meeting place, for drill.Mr. Z. K. Meyers has resigned his position in the Water Works, because of some disagreement in the amount of his salary.OFFICER Hopkins, while looking for Chun Hook, near the Chinese washhouse, this afternoon, caught a Celestial with a pipe and horn of opium.CAR-DRIVERS complain of dull times and scarcity of cash. One well-known and popular cabman remained on his stand from early morning to 2 o'clock in the afternoon of yesterday, without securing a fare.MESSRS. Jas. Dodd and Harry Miller, gentlemen well known as dispensers of refreshments for the public, are about to open a new saloon on Fort street, immediately above Hotel street. They have named the premises the "Criterion," and solicit the public patronage.
Saturday, the 11th instant, is the opening day.NOTICES of Holiday goods continue to flow into our columns. Preparations have been made for the gay and festive advent of Santa Claus. Not to be behind the age Mr. N. S. Sachs of the Popular Millinery House has just opened a line of goods that comprises everything. To enumerate them would fill a volume, and to avoid that task we refer our readers to Mr. Sachs' advertisement.REFERRING to the recent burglary at the Club Dining Rooms, a dining-room chair was found on Alakea street next morning by a policeman.
This chair belonged to the Club Dining room and was dropped on the road by the thief. Officer Hopkins tried to force an entrance through the front door on the night of the robbery, thinking he heard a noise within, but his attempt proved futile and hearing no noise afterwards, he proceeded on his rounds.

AN ACCIDENT.

A Portuguese laborer, employed by Mr. Geo. Lucas, met with an accident on the corner of Hotel and Maunakea streets, yesterday. He was working in a building there, and was on a staging in the second story, when he lost his balance and fell.
He struck a joist in the floor of the second story, then fell through to the lower floor. His fall was about 25 feet, broken by the joist. The man was picked up in an insensible condition, and taken to the Hospital.
On being examined, no bones were found broken. The injuries seem to be greatest about the right thigh.
He was resting comfortably last evening, and will probably come out, all right in time.

BAND CONCERT.

LACK OF DISCIPLINE

EDITOR BULLETIN:—I am not at all surprised at the escape of the notorious Chun Hook, judging from what little I know of the mismanagement of prisoners, which I see every day on their way from the prison to the place of work in Nuuanu. They are not marched in order now as formerly, but go straggling along up the valley road under no discipline whatever, talking, laughing, smoking, and doing just as they please. I put a short article in your paper some time since referring to this matter, under the signature of "Citizen," because I was of the opinion that no notice would be taken of it if I attached my own name, hoping the authorities would take notice of it, but of late the abuse has been worse than ever.The temptation under present management is too great for such a man as Chun Hook to resist escaping, and the blame should be placed just where it belongs—upon those in authority. P. C. Jones.

WHAT MR. GREIG SAYS.

Mr. Greig, of Fanning's Island, says the black fish that are caught near Fanning's Island are a species of whale. They make periodical visits, in schools of about 100, and, as the change of tides carries the feed to a particular lagoon, these fish can be found in the same place with each change. They feed either on sea-weed that grows on the rocks or on squids, and are discovered when they rise to the surface, to bloat. When discovered, the natives in boats, on boards, and in boxes surround the school and drive them ashore, or into shallow water. The blubber is tried out, and about three barrels of oil is obtained from each ordinary sized fish. The oil is somewhat superior in quality to the common whale oil, and is used on the islands by the natives for various purposes. Other fish aboundnear the islands, but are caught only when wanted for the table.
Fishermen would be allowed to fish there occasionally, but not to make a business of it.

BACKUS AND BLAISDELL TALK.

A double-timbered house, measuring 8x8 feet and containing six bunks and a closet, has been built on the deck of the barkentine Mary Winkelman, between the gallery and cabin, at the cost of $165. When Captain Backus was asked why he had the house built, he said that the cook and cabin boy had bunks in the cabin and he (the captain), being afraid of boarding house bedbugs, had the house built for those two helps. While talking of bedbugs, Mr. Blaisdell, who was present, suggested the use of pain-killer, saying it was sure death to every bug that touched it. The talk finally drifted to copper and copper-paint. Captain Backus said that formerly his vessel, after eight months' traveling, would be full of barnacles and coral at the bottom, but now after 18 months' service the vessel is clean. The secret, he said, is in painting the copper with copper-paint. It keeps off the insects and preserves the sheet copper.

PORT STREET CHURCH.

LAST EVENING'S MEETING.

The monthly concert, in the lecture room of Port Street Church, last evening was well attended.
Mrs. J. M. Whitney gave an account of the operations of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in the United States and other parts of the world. The recent Minneapolis convention was attended by 400 delegates. The sessions were held in the opera house, and were attended by some 2,500 persons. The society is thoroughly organized, and its influence is beginning to be felt throughout the length and breadth of the Union. Social purity and Sunday observance have also been adopted as planks in the W. C. T. U. platform.An able paper on the history of Japanese missions was read by Mr.
T. S. Southwick.Mrs. S. N. Castle gave some account of mission work and prospects in China.Several applications for certificates of membership were read and granted.The minutes of meetings of the congregation and deacons, held at different times, from April last to date, were read by Mr. W. W.
Hall, Secretary.A recommendation of the Standing Committee that a private meeting of the members of the congregation be held at an early day, for purposes stated, was adopted, and Tuesday next appointed as the day of holding such meeting.
